<sup>2</sup> The annual growth rate is calculated as a percentage change in the base index of transaction-adjusted outstanding amounts over the year.

<sup>3</sup> The financial sector consists of Lithuania’s investment funds and other financial intermediaries, as well as insurance corporations and pension funds.

overnight deposits of Lithuanian non-financial corporations and households with credit institutions grew by €200.6 million and €80.8 million respectively over the month, or 2.5% and 0.5% respectively. At the end of the month, the outstanding amounts of overnight deposits of these sectors stood at €8.2 billion and €15.8 billion respectively. Deposits with agreed maturity of households held with credit institutions rose by €63.2 million, or 0.9%, while those of non-financial corporations declined by €42.4 million, or 2.3%. The outstanding amounts of these deposits stood at €7.4 billion and €1.8 billion respectively;

loans granted by credit institutions to Lithuanian residents increased by €436.7 million, or 1.5%, month on month (their annual growth rate was 9.9%). Loans to Lithuanian households and non-financial corporations went up by €136.7 million (0.9%) and €350.1 million (3.2%) respectively (their annual growth rates stood at 7.3% and 12.5% respectively). Loans to the financial sector and general government decreased by €44.0 million and €6.2 million respectively. At the end of July 2024, loans to these sectors amounted to €15.2 billion, €11.5 billion, €1.6 billion and €359.2 million respectively (see Chart 2);
